

Rondine Cittadella della Pace Program

2019. Call for the selection of participants. EXTENDED DEADLINE.

The mission of Rondine

The Association Rondine Cittadella della Pace, based in Italy, has been working for peace and dialogue for 20 years. Utilizing an original training approach, the program aims at promoting conflict transformation through the experience of young people coming from different cultures or conflict and post-conflict areas.

During a two-year experience, participants deconstruct the idea of the “enemy” and work actively to develop projects with social, political and economic impact in order to contribute to peaceful development in their own countries and in the world.

To achieve these results, students receive high quality trainings on topics connected to conflict management, as well as improve their communication skills and learn about the necessary methodologies needed to create concrete opportunities for development and reconciliation.

In addition to this specific training, students develop their own professional and academic curriculum by obtaining a master’s degree or a specialization by high vocational education.

What is World House?

The World House is an international experience of civic engagement for conflict transformation. It takes place through the experience of cohabitation with other students and through daily activities. This is central part of where the education process and training take place - learning in living.

It is the core of the Citadel, where many innovative courses and projects are explored, and where the young participants are consciously prepared to become leaders, in a context of fast transformation, deep change, high stake conflicts and an increased complexity of relations. It is the place where the promotion and the diffusion of the mission of Rondine begin.

The program

It is now possible to apply to the current training program which will run from July 2019 to June 2021 and is divided into three main areas: daily life, trainings and academics. All areas are strongly oriented toward the principles and values of Rondine’s mission:

1. In the daily context, through cohabitation with others, the participant has to practice respect for the other as a person and is asked for responsible participation in the educative processes. The entire experience is based on relations and active listening, in order to understand social, cultural and religious diversity and to be able to witness its previous and current experience and to develop projects having social impact.

In practice, the participant is expected to actively contribute to the daily activities of Rondine and to adopt a proactive attitude. Participation and attendance to activities is crucial and present an occasion during which the participant can show and exercise the skills developed during the training courses.

2. In the training context, divided into series of activities aimed at deepening personal competences and soft skills such as leadership, communication, storytelling, team building, active learning and etc. The core of the training is about conflict transformation, which aims to cover the understanding of the causes and consequences of the war in their respective countries, through the confrontation of experiences of different conflicts. The training program also covers human rights, mediation, project writing and management conducted by international and local mediators, trainers and specialized psychologists. They act as facilitators in confrontation between students to be able to share their views on personal identity issues, starting from their culture, history, customs, traditions and stereotypes, to their own approach of the conflict. The topics are addressed through activities and trainings that foster interpersonal communication and gradual expression of their experiences by taking into consideration different points of view.
3. In the academic context, through the work on a master's degree or other type of vocational training courses at the main universities or institutes in Central Italy (Tuscany, Umbria), the participant will complete the personal study curriculum started in his/her country, getting prepared for the job market with greater sensibility and focus on social changes. Rondine fellows generally attend a one-year master (60 ECTS) on a part-time basis, so to be compatible with the Rondine training¹. The choice of the course will be agreed upon with the educational staff, and it will be bound by the level of study stated in the *Dichiarazione di Valore*², a legal document necessary for academic enrolment and to be obtained by the candidate before his/her arrival in Italy. Rondine welcomes students having all academic backgrounds since we strongly believe in the possibility to impact on conflict transformation through civil society and through all the professional sectors.³

In all of these contexts, a big consideration has been given to the arts, in all its forms, for its capacity to be a privileged vehicle of a dialogue that is able to overcome borders and resistance.

Music, drawings, photography and all other expressive forms are an important part of Rondine activities and a characteristic sought for in the candidates. Therefore, it will be possible for students to attend courses in art-related international institutions in order to consistently continue and improve the curriculum that the participant started in his/her country.

² The 'Dichiarazione di Valore' is the document that proves the value of the title of the degree obtained in a different system than the Italian one. It is drafted in Italian and released by the Italian Diplomatic Representatives Office abroad (Embassies or Consulates), the closest to the city in which is the institution that has released the degree. More information can be found on the following link: http://www.istruzione.it/urp/dichiarazione_valore.shtml

³ Students who would like to attend medical studies are not advised to apply due to the differences between regulations by the Italian ministry of Education and other respective Ministries in their home countries.

The end of the program and return home

After the end of the experience in Rondine, participants go back to their home Countries more motivated; they join their families and are ready to face the difficulties of managing the socio-cultural changes of their realities.

Once participants are back home, they become part of an association of former Rondine students, named “Rondine International Peace Lab” (RIPL). Founded in 2017, RIPL is comprised of a network of around 170 students, managed by a Board and a President elected by consultation among the alumni.

The association aims to promote cohabitation, dialogue, conflicts transformation and peace-building through the realization of cooperative development projects and social entrepreneurship initiatives among members of divided communities.

Who can participate?

Participants will be selected among candidates showing the following characteristics:

- Ages between 21- 28;
- Sensibility and readiness to work on the topics of conflict of the country of origin and conflicts in general;
- Predisposition to leadership;
- Predisposition to public speaking and communication;
- Predisposition to team and group work and active listening;
- Predisposition to taking on roles of responsibility;
- Predisposition to team building and active involvement;

- A wish to deal with conflict management, during his/her own personal professional growth.

Please, note that Italian is the official language for communication and activities in Rondine. For this reason, the program starts with a 3-month intensive course of Italian language and culture. Knowledge of English is also required for a profitable participation in the Rondine training.

On a comparable assessment of the previous characteristics, the presence of a candidate’s sponsorship by a legal entity such as foundations, NGO’s or other non-profit bodies are an added value. Sponsorship has to demonstrate relatedness to topics close to Rondine’s and actual support – even financial, to the candidate.

Selection process

The selection of participant includes the following phases, all of which required for successful completion:

- Application form: the candidate has to complete the request of admission and send it before the indicated deadline, attaching all of the required documents.
- Pre-selection: from the pool of application forms sent on time, those that fulfil all the formal requests will proceed to the next step. This phase may include online tests.
- Individual interview: the candidate will then be interviewed individually with the aim of verifying his/her personal characteristics and his/her motivation to carry out the experience of the World House. Special attention in this phase will be given to the discussion of the social project that the candidate presented. Priority will be given to the in-person interviews, conducted in the candidate's country, though exceptions could be made for interviews done via Skype.
- Candidate selection: Rondine Admission Team will inform selected candidates at the end of the interview phase (April-May). To accept the participation to the program, candidates sign a Learning and Participation Agreement. After the receipt of the Learning and Participation Agreement the necessary organisational and administrative steps will be undertaken, supported by the Rondine International Relations Office.
- The trial period in Rondine: selected candidates arrive in Rondine to start a trial period, aimed at verifying motivation and personal attitudes of the participant. The trial period lasts three months (July-September), at the end of which candidates that are deemed eligible will be officially accepted into the World House. During this period, candidates will take part in an intensive course of Italian language and culture, in order to use the language as the official language of communication in the World House during the two years of their stay. Candidates are evaluated during the entire trial period.

Organizational and economic aspects

During the whole period of the participant's stay, the association takes responsibility of covering the following costs:

- Cost of the training activities in Rondine
- Cost of the lodging and board
- Cost of the academic or vocational training (enrolment fees, learning material, transportation)

Expenses under the responsibility of the student include: expenses for the travel to/from Italy and visa procedures, holiday travels, personal and medical expenses and every other cost not specifically included among the expenses covered by the Association.

A more detailed description of the economic aspects will be part of the Learning and Participation Agreement that the candidate will be asked to read and sign before the start of the trial period.
